Old House. New Life.

The transformation of the Steele Home.

Jim and Nina Steele of Comstock really liked their 31-year-old home.

They'd bought the 1,100-square-foot house in 1999, and they liked its size and location. But there were just a few things they wanted to change, including:

- ✓ the kitchen
- ✓ the windows
- ✓ the doors
- ✓ the cabinets
- ✓ the floors
- ✓ the paint colors
- ✓ the trim
- ✓ the electrical and
- ✓ the fireplace.

The Steeles had seen some examples of DeHaan Remodeling's work, and the word of mouth they'd heard was terrific. So the couple contacted Bob DeHaan in early 2015. "We had a list of what we wanted to do," says Jim, "and we went over the list with Bob. He asked us what our budget was, then told us what he could do for us on that budget."

DeHaan offered a few suggestions, says Jim, such as removing one more wall to increase the open feel of the home, and adding a peninsula in the kitchen.

The Steeles and DeHaan agreed on the plan and work started in March 2015. For the next two months, the Steeles stayed with relatives, but say they visited the remodeling project almost every day. "We watched the progress from tear-down to finish," Jim says. They always felt welcome at the site, and DeHaan Remodeling and all of their subcontractors were quick to answer questions and explain what was happening. All the subcontractors, Jim says, were helpful and approachable.

The Steeles say there were no unforeseen complications or difficulties throughout the remodel. Even a few weeks after the project was complete and the Steeles were back in their newly remodeled home, the DeHaan Remodeling Specialists were quick to help out. A hard rain from the west pounded the house, causing a leak by their refurbished front door, so the company returned to repair and repaint the door. The Steeles were delighted with the customer service.

They're also very happy with the finished product, says Jim, and are certain they'll be calling DeHaan Remodeling for future remodeling needs. What more could possibly be left to do after the extensive work just completed? They're already making plans, says Jim: "In the next three to five years we'll probably remodel the bathrooms and bedrooms." Thanks to the quality of DeHaan Remodeling's work and the fact that they were made to feel like a big part of the project, Jim Steele is confident that they'll be calling DeHaan Remodeling for that next big project.
